Getting to Know Families and their Children

Building trusting, productive relationships with families and their children begins with getting to know them. This information from families will help you and your staff create welcoming, respectful connections with families and lay a strong foundation for learning throughout the year.

Promising Practices for Administering a “Beginning of Year Questionnaire for Families”

- Develop a “Beginning of Year Questionnaire for Families” that families can fill out over the summer or at the beginning of the school year (see a sample on the next page)
- Set aside time at the beginning of the school year or over the summer for families to fill out the Questionnaire during individual meetings with a teacher or a family worker
- Ensure that staff who are using the Questionnaire as the basis for conversations with families, rather than an interview. To partner with families in this conversation, do the following:
  - Collect the information in a sensitive and respectful manner
  - Share the rationale for collecting this information from families
  - Respect families who do not want to answer all of the questions
- Plan to provide accommodations for families who cannot complete the Questionnaire in English

Important Information to Include in a Questionnaire

CHILD INFORMATION

- Name the child prefers to be called
- The child’s strengths and special interests
- The child’s preferences (e.g., favorite toys, activities) and any dislikes
